PAYMASTER'S DEPARTMENT .- A few ago we were informed by telegraph that Maj. Baber, of this city, had been dismissed from the service as Paymaster. At the time no statement was made of the cause of dismissal. We have since learned that the dismissal was ordered on the report of Major Larned, the Chief Paymaster. The case was investigated after dismissal (as usual), and resulted in revoking the order of dismissal, and in reinstating Major Baber to his post, as the following

The ground alleged in the case of Major Baber was "inefficiency." He was en route with a party to pay Gen. Grant's army, under the orders of Major I. N. Cook, who had been placed in command of the expedition by Major Larned, when his "muster out" first came to Major B.'s knowledge. Returning immediately, he collected testi-

President of the United States, who forthwith personally investigated fully the facts, together with the Secretary of War, and the Acting Paymaster General, and made the above order of honorable restoration.

The proof was clear that Major Larned's report was grossly partial and incorrect—that Paymasters who had not done half as much work as Maj. Baber in the same time were rated "A No. 1," while he was set down as inefficient;" though in his seven months' service in that department he had disbursed over '$818,000 to 20 regiments of infantry, three battalions of cavalry, four batteries, and numerous resigned officers, &c., entirely to their satisfaction, as evidenced by their statements filed in the War Department—his single payment of $600,000 to General George W. Morgan's division at Cumberland Gap being that great and most diffeul ever made in the service. And of 35 paymasters in Larned's department, only two did more work.

This is the third instance within three weeks in which Major Larned's report as to his subordinates, has, on investigation, been set aside as untruthful by the War Department. "We understand," says our neighbor of the Democrat, referring to the article above, "that the facts asserted by the Journal are sustained by documents which have been filed in the Department at Washington, and statements of army officers who are personally cogant of the facts. Let Secretary Stanton act upon this subject." Major Larned is also accused of procuring the appointment of citizens of other States as paymasters of Kentucky, thereby defrauding Kentucky of the privilege to which she is entitled under the established rule of apportionment. On the whole, his case plainly demands the action of the War Department. If what we are told above is true, the War Department must be delivered in a few days, in the Supreme Court, at Washington. OBSTRUCTIONS AT CHARLESTON.-The Port Royal correspondent of the New York World writes on the 25th ult. that a late gunboat reonnoissance in the direction of Fort Sumpter showed that the rebels had removed their ower tier of guns and placed them en barbette, doubtless with the intention of lestroying our iron-clads by means of plunging shot. The writer adds: "All these manou vres have been foreseen, and others also, to which it would not be proper to refer. Torpedoes, sunken ships, piles, rocks, and all the curious gear used to close harbors will be of little avail. tions, who reported the following preamble and accompanying resolutions, which were adopted without a dissenting voice.

Whereas, the Union Democracy of this county met in convention on the 16th day of June, 1862, and by resolution condemned both abolitionism and secessionism, ignoring all past political issues until the Constitution and Congruences set up by our fothers were not titution and enforce the laws on the one side

The soldiers composing the detachment were from the 26th Kentucky infantry and 8th Kentucky cavalry. succeeded in capturing six as mean traitors as ever took a horse, burned a bridge, or shot a white man. Four of the individuals—by the name of John Lisle, William Lisle, W. Z. Finch, and W. J. Willis—were captured at the house of the paternal ancester of the aforesaid Lisle (a terrible old rebel), about three miles from this places on the Nech three miles from this place, on the Nash ville turnpike, where they had congregate beyond doubt, to concoct some of their devil-ish schemes, and plot treason against the Gov-ernment, and destruction to railroad bridges lepots, and trains, and possibly to debate the question, "Is it better to burn mules when a rain is captured containing them or try to un them off?"
The two Lisles and Finch acknowledge they are, or were, soldiers in the Confederate army, and one (John) claims to be here by Confederate authority to hunt up deserters.

It is but justice to Willis to say that he de clares himself a Union man and a refuger from Texas, but it does seem strange that a wealthy owner of twenty negroes were entirely exempt from military duty.

It has respected the rights of neither age, ever, while prisoners, openly boast of their traitorous deeds. These men are not deficien in discipline. Near the house where the were found they had their horses hitched, sad dled, and bridled, ready for instant flight. They also had a sentinel posted to give the manding the highest prices ever known, with both Houses of Congress and the Supreme Court of the United States on their side. Their security was ample until that majority was converted into a minority by the secession of several States.

It has drenched the land in blood, sacrificed.

OUR WESTERN NAVY .- At St. Louis, at the present time, Mr. Eads has six Monitors under construction. Two of them, the Osage and Neosho, have been launched recently, and two others, the Chickasaw and Kickapoo, are being built for the contractors. The remaining two, Milwaukie and Winnebago, are in an advanced 229 feet, breadth 56, draft 6 feet, two engines and four propellers, covered by a hood astern. Like the two above mentioned, are of iron throughout, presenting but a very small target above water line. Engines, boilers, and magazines all below deck.

Each of them is to be fitted with two turrets. One of these turrets is after the design of Mr. Ericsson, and the other is upon a new principle and adaptation of Mr. Eads, and will no doubt be a startling advance in naval warfare. The peculiarity of this new turret is in loading the gun below deck—in having a porthole the size of the gun-muzzle only, closed except during the discharges, and admitting of an elevation of twenty-five degrees and a depression of five. The tower of nine-inch plates is not only rotary, but the interior platform or bed is elevated or depressed by steam power at each successive discharge of the guns, so as to leave little or no margin for casualties. Altogether these are the most formidable war vessels yet produced. Their cost will be about $320,000.

pleted, the former in ninety and the latter in hundred days. They are the same, in gene ral construction, as those just described, ex-cept that they will be furnished with two tur-rets of the Ericsson pattern each. Like them also, they will carry four eleven-inch columbiads; will make six miles an hour again current. They are also protected again plunging shot in a manner quite remarkable. The interior arrangements are such as to allow of compact and comfortable quarters during action. The iron of which they are built and covered is the tough Missouri bloom, rolled at Portsmouth, O. The plating for the sides of the hulls above and below the water line is three and a half inches, at a very near angle with the water surface. There is no probabil-

UNION CONVENTION. At a meeting of the Union members of the Legislature, in the House of Representatives. on Monday evening, Feb. 16th, 1863, on motion, Hon. Joseph Underwood was called to the Chair, and John B. Bruner appointed Secre-

After a free and full consultation, it is recommended to the Union Democracy of Kentucky that they assemble in convention, through their delegates, in the city of Louisville, on the 18th day of March next, and nominate suitable persons as candidates to fill the various State offices, to be chosen at the next August election. It is further recommended that the people meet, at some convenient time and place, in their respective counties, and appoint delegates to represent them in the convention. J. R. UNDERWOOD, Ch'm'n. JOHN B. BRUNER, Sec'y.

The editor of the Journal still adheres to the position that the dispersion of the late convention at Frankfort by the military was all right and proper. We regret that he does so. When it is admitted that no class of men have a right to contrive ways and means to place Kentucky in the rebellion, the case is not met. Louisville Democrat

It is met exactly; for our neighbor himself has admitted that the "class of men" who composed "the late convention at Frankfort' assembled "to contrive ways and means to place Kentucky in the rebellion." Witness the following language of our neighbor:

We believe, however, that the convention was gotten up in aid of secession purposes; for it assumed the name of the Democratic party as a cloak to its designs, hoping thus to mis-lead the people. Under the disguise of this honored name, its leaders and those who proosed to inaugurate this movement to benefine South and take Kentucky out of the Un on, hoped to gull the unsuspecting, law-abid ng citizens, who are tired of the abuses of the Administration in the conduct of this war.

Our neighbor also declared, in the same article from which we take this extract "that the squad of secessionists assembled at Frankfort on the 18th inst., under the name of 'Democracy,' were but the supporters and sympathizers of the rebellion.' such was notoriously the true character of the convention. Consequently, the convention itself was an overt act. It was composed of notorious secessionists, the bare assembling of whom, with the avowed purpose of plotting nostility to the government. Secessionists have no more right peaceably to assemble and in such a State the military authorities essionists who do either, for the reason that tive manifestation of the public enmity they philosophy of the whole matter. So long as the secessionists of Kentucky do not act upon their opinions, they are entitled to be left | With respect to this as to all other grave points unmolested and to be protected; but, the of policy the loyal men of Kentucky know no moment they proceed to carry their opin- shadow of turning. They are deeply in earnions into effect, whether by standing for est. They do not mean that the dead heroes office or by plotting for office or by taking of Kentucky shall have died in vain or that up arms or by giving information to the enemy or by any other means, they voluntary come out from the lawful shelter of non-combatant enemies, and are liable to be dealt with as active enemies within the sphere of military operations. If the secessionists of Kentucky desire to remain unmolest ed and protected, let them keep their opinions to themselves, and behave in all other respects as becomes non-com batant enemies on the theatre of war for, if they do not, most certainly they will be neither protected nor unmolested. On this point the policy of the loyal men of Kentucky was determined when the secession armies first invaded the State, and the policy has ever since. It will not be departed from now. But our neighbor of the Democrat, not content with asserting the right of the secessionists of Kentucky to organize and plot for the advancement of the rebellion, at length roundly declares himself in favor of recognizing the secessionists as a legitimate party, and of permitting them to stand for office. He says:

What was to be lost by letting the conven-What was to be lost by letting the convention proceed? Two years ago we had free elections, and the Southern Rights party returned only twenty-six members of the Legislature out of one hundred. What reason have we to tear a free election now? The people of this State occupy the same position now they did two years ago. They were for the Union they and they are a now. They were Union then, and they are so now. They were against abolitionism then, and are against it now. Why not, then, trust the people in this * * *

The ballot-box is ample security against secession in this State, and if this convention did run into that heresy, it would only have shown its weakness. Now they will say that we are afraid to let the whole people speak, and cite this case to prove it. For our own part, we don't expect to save the government either of the State or of the Union against popular suffrage. If it is not to be trusted in a fair contest, we are overboard, and free government is a failure. We had as well confess the truth now and save trouble.

This is certainly very remarkable language This is certainly very remarkable language for our neighbor to use. We indeed hardly know how fitly to answer it. In our hesitation, we shall allow our neighbor himself to the last August election, our neighbor, touching upon this very point, said:

ing upon this very point, said:

It is an error to suppose that we have any political parties in Kentucky, in the well-understood sense of the term in this country. Political parties differ on the question as to how the government shall be administered. All such parties have, up to this time, been supporters of the government itself. Now we have the State for the government, and a faction struggling to destroy it. This latter class cannot be recognized as a legitimate party. No community can tolerate a faction of enemies to its government. The cant about freedom of speech is out of place. A government can't protect men striving to destroy it.

Referring subsequently to the point during Referring subsequently to the point during the same canvass, our neighbor said: We want these secesh to consider the case a ttle. They have resorted to the ballot-box We want these secesn to consider the case a little. They have resorted to the ballot-box several times, and got the verdict of Kentucky against them. They and their allies appealed to the sword, and if they can succeed, they can hold office in Kentucky, not otherwise.

Their faction has called in foreign aid. They are to-day carrying fire and sword to the homes of Kentuckians, and yet they want offices in this State by the poll-books. They have tried to overrule the verdict of the ballot-box by force, and can't appeal to the former again. If they can hold office by force, they will have the right of revolution. They can have no other right to office in Kentucky. Disloyal men can't hold office in this State; and it is their own fault that they can't. They have undertaken by the sword to defy the laws of the State, and to change her constitution. Revolution is the plot and the hope of the radicals. It is our duty to sustain the pillars of the government. There is no hope for us but in this. The State of Kentucky, the State of Massachusetts, all the States, are the stones of the temple. The whole fabric stands on one foundation, and that must be preserved. Every proposal to disunite and die as a nation must be resisted.

Paragraphs in various papers in relation to grabbings of the public money are headed, "Astounding Robbery." We occanotically the constitution. Revolution is the plot and the hope of the radicals. It is our duty to sustain the pillars of the government. There is no hope for us but in this. The State of Missachusetts, all the State of Illinois, the State of Massachusetts, all the States, are the stones of the temple. There is no hope for us but in this. Let them cast the ot with those they are seeking to benefit, and not remain among us, cursing and abusing Kentucky for her loyalty while enjoying her hospitality. They forfeit all claim to protection, being identical in purpose with those who have gone to the South to unite with Kentucky's enemies in a raid upon her soil. State or of the Union against popular suffrage." and that "if it is not to be trusted in a fair contest, we are overboard, and free government is a failure." That is to say, our neighbor now declares himself in favor of ecognizing the secessionists of Kentucky as a legitimate party, of permitting them to stand for office and to hold office, of re-opening here the whole question of Union or disunion at the ballot-box whilst we are trying it on the battle-field, and of deliberately putting at the hazard of a popular election in this hour of passion and of violence the proud position of loyalty which we first won with our suffrages and are now defending with our lives! The position of Kentucky as an actual member of the Union, though hers by right and by choice, has been and is maintained by her strong right arm. Kentucky has purchased her own and is deending it with the blood of her gallant sons. The position thus achieved and thus preserved she treasures as a pearl without price. She does. She cherishes it as she does her own honlives in its defence. And they have joyfully obeyed the call. Yet our neighbor, while these brave sons of Kentucky are perilling their lives in the field, would give the unarmed allies and, if they can but manage to show a formal Judean, throw away this pearl, blood-bought, and richer than all our tribe. In the presence of the new-made graves of the Kentuckians slain in the defence of their country, and with forty thousand Kentuckians now in arms under the banner of the Union, our neighbor would have the question as to whether Kentucky polls. He proposes in the very height and crisis of the strife of arms to fight the rebels with balwith himself, we need not trouble him to settucky as he is with himself. The action of cherish. This is as we conceive the law and both branches of the General Assembly concerning the dispersion of the secession convention is in itself decisive on this head.

> We advise the radicals to die easy, for die they must. Their time is up. Whatever schemes may be devised for prolonging power, whatever the hopes which may have been entertained that a longer term of office and legislative privileges might be accorded to radicalism, the truth, as a contemporary says, is now apparent to the eyes of the most blind that the people of the country are against the radi cals, in immense majority, and that for a hundred years to come they will not again represent the voting majorities of this land. Nor is this conservative reaction a mere temporary accession of power by an opposition. It is the permanent education of a people by bitter experience that has made them what they are. The army has had its education, and the inhabitants at home have had their education. There were many who were dissatisfied with the last Administration because of corruptions which were charged on the party in power. But, alas, the corruptions of the party now in power are confessed to exceed all in former history a hundred fold. There were those who were dissatisfied with the treatment of the incipient rebellion by the former Administration, but alas! the present Administration has not been any more sucessful in satisfying the people. It is useless cessful in satisfying the people. It is useless to argue why or how the change has taken end of the contest was accomplished." place in the public mind. in which the Mexican question has at last beer brought up in the French Corps Legislati is ower to which he has appealed—the power to which he has appealed—the power of important and significant. It appears, accordance Kentucky, if they had to obtain her by ing to the New York Times, that the opposition attached an amendment to the address relative to Mexico, which sought to discove the motives for the Mexican expedition. Thos upporting the amendment denounced the ex edition as having its origin in the swindling peration of the Swiss banker, M. Jecker, M. Picard maintained that the expedition must have an unfortunate issue, and would not save Mexico from falling into the hands of the United States, but must expedite that result. This member demanded, what many others high in office have desired during th past year, namely, a solution of the enigma presented by the French invasion of Mexico t also appears that M. Jules Favre, the leader of what are termed the "five independent nembers" of the Legislative Assembly, was not satisfied with the amendment of the Opposition because it is not strong enough in it condemnation of the raid upon Mexico. M. Favre openly and boldly accused the Government of having concealed the truth in its account of the conversation between M. Thou venel and Lord Cowley. He denounced the Jecker affair, stating that the English Minister had stigmatized it as a robbery, and therefore no astonishment could be felt at the French ultimatum having caused the with lrawal of England and Spain. He said that 'the army of France should not be rashly engaged in undefined and adventurous expedi ions; neither our interests nor our principl require us to go and see what sort of governnent the Mexican people desire." He disarowed, in the name of principle and interna ional law, the war against Mexico. "It wil always be unfortunate," said the distinguishe avocat, "even after the taking of the City of Mexico, for Juarez would continue the war in the French provinces. To get to Orizaba has already cost 104,000,000 francs, and to g further than Mexico the treasure of France week ago. Now he says that he doesn't "exwould not suffice." M. But he constant harped upon the old and obsolete issues tha Juarez has broken faith with France and ill treated French-citizens; that Jecker is a man of integrity and his claim valid. Further nore, M. Billault declared very distinctly tha France could not draw back.

This debate in the French Chambers devel opes several curious and noteworthy facts would be ignoble indeed if she did not. But she In the first place, we find the startling fac that a powerful organization of independent or. This party justifies the expedition wholly on the ground that French honor demands reparation for injuries and in sults to French citizens in Mexico. DR. LUDLUM'S SPECIFIC,

Gonorrhea, Gleets, Whites, Strictures, AND COMPLAINTS OF THE ORGANS OF GENERATION.

THE GONORRHEA, OR COMMONLY CALLED Clap, is a disgusting malady, and is too well known to require any explanation; it is easy to be got, but it is difficult to get clear of. It is a companion but it is dincuit to get clear of. It is a companion that few admire; it pervades all classes of society—both male and female, both rich and poor, both married and single. Although so troublesome in itself, so distressing and sometimes fatal, it is a disease the the disease itself. The common fashionable treatment is, first, to deprive you of all business; then comes a is, first, to deprive you of all business; then comes a course of starvation—living on bread and tea, water gruel, or some kind of slops; you must then be bled, supped, or leeched, combined with nauseating medicines, injections, lotions, ointments, and warm fomentations. Every few days the medicines are changed; and after some months' treatment in this you which the parians heave with great facilities. way, which the patient bears with great fortitude for fear of exposure, he is discharged, or discharges himselt, with an irritable urctor, a swelled testicle, ar

A DISASTER AT FRANKLIN, TENN.-We have intelligence by telegraph this morning of reverse at Franklin, Tenn. General Gilbert or the Federal commander there, whoever h may have been, was drawn into a trap set by Van Dorn, on Thursday, nibbling at the bai most readily. The Nashville papers of yesterday give an account of the skirmish which preceded the defeat, but the telegraph furnishes the details. The papers inform us that the enemy, under Van Dorn, advanced toward Franklin on Wednesday. The Federal troops also advanced six miles, and Van Dorn was driven back. Two men were wounded on our side, and the rebels lost thirteen in killed and wounded. The fight was renewed early yesterday, with the result indicated by telegraph

THE VICKSBURG CUT-OFF. -- A letter published in the Mobile Tribune, and said to be written by Col. Angamar, of the Confederate service, ending March 6th, 1863:

Feb. 28. George James, co. H., 2d Indiana.
Charles Kreger, co. H. 4th Ind.
Mar. 1.—Wash Cluller, co. F., 121st Ohio.
James A. Lucas, 1st Tennessee Artillery.
John Hume, co. E., 80th Indiana.
Silas J. Clark, co. D., 52d Ohio.
Mar. 2.—J. T. Ruffell, rebel prisoner.
W. B. Hadley, co. B., 1st Mississippi (rebel.)
Hugh Wycoff, co. F., 7th Tennessee.
Mar. 3.—George McQuade, co. H., 25th Illinois,
Homer Troxell, co. D., 105th Ohio.
James Moore, co. E., 33d Indiana.
Mar. 4.—J. Beljohn, co. D, 13th Louisiana (rebel.)
George Carter, co. I, 13t Tennessee Cav.
E. E. Trayell, co. C., 7sth Illinois,
James McNealy, co. E., 1st Tenn. Cavalry.
E. D. Jones, co. F., 7sth Illinois,
M. McCarmele, co. B, 8sth Indiana.
Darling P. Arnan, rebel prisoner. thinks that the attempt to divert the Mississippi river away from Vicksburg will prove a failure. The reason given for this opinion is, that, when a few years since the river rose to an unprecedented height, a crevasse occurred about thirteen miles above Vicksburg, and the water ran with great force through that part of the country back of the city and came out about a mile below it, but, though the breach was not closed, when the waters subsided the river returned to its old bed, and so it is believed that the canal cut by the Union troops will not accomplish its object. The cause of this phenomenon is stated to be, that below the alluvial soil is a layer of stiff blue clay, which the action of the water. cannot wash away; but below the clay, which is six to nine feet below the surface and seven to ten feet thick, comes the quicksand, and it is only when the water begins to contend with the latter that there is danger of abrasion by the action of the current upon it. It is therefore argued that the canal should have been cut deep enough to reach the strata of quicksand and then the Mississippi would certainly have cut its way through the channel opened and left Vicksburg an inland city.

We do not believe the geological knowledge of the Union engineers has been so much as fault as to overlook these facts; indeed, the work on the canal was delayed essentially by overcoming the very difficulty suggested. The negroes as they dug into the clay found the water percolating through the dam so fast as almost to stop their work. But an account of the project tells us that when a sufficient depth had been attained it was proposed to admit the water and float the gunboats and transports through. The primary object of the cut-off would then be gained, and the ultimate purpose would be accomplished as soon as dredgthe residue of the clayey bottom and introduce the father of waters to the quicksand beneath We are therefore inclined to think that the strictures of the Mobile correspondent are of very little importance.

A SKIRMISH ON HARPETH RIVER .- We learn from the Nashville Union that Col. Johnson's First East Tennessee Cavalry had a skirmish with Col. Rogers' command, on Harpeth river near Chapel Hill, Tenn., on Wednesday, the 4th inst., and killed twelve, wounded and cap tured seventy-two, and all the horses and am munition, and brought them to Nashville or Thursday and delivered them over to the Pro vost Marshal. Majors Burkhart and Macy were in command, and had only twenty-three men in the engagement, not one of whom were injured.

THE CITY ELECTION.—The annual election knap, Esq., will allow his name to be used in connection with the canvass for the Mayoralty for city officers will take place on the firs Monday in April, and it is important that jut the ensuing April election, he will receive dicious selections be made. Several candi dates for the Mayalty have already been an nounced, and we insert in our columns this ging a little about the Quaker City for its advantages over cities in respect of room and accommodation. With 600,000 inhabitants, it morning a very flattering call upon W. B Belknap, Esq. His strict business habits and has 94,000 dwelling houses within the limits of Philadelphia in which to keep them, an avenlightened judgment eminently fit him fo the executive control of the city, and he will rage of six to each house. It has no tenementouses, which disgrace New York. Three no doubt gratify his friends to the extent of hundred and forty-six miles of water mains furnish the people with water, and five hun the use of his name in that connection.

HIGH-PRICED TOBACCO .- Although our quo tations for tobacco in a general way are some what lower to-day, unusually high prices wer paid in some instances at the new Louisvill Warehouse. The crop of Mr. Isham Gregory of Christian county, embracing four hogsheads one of which was lugs, sold at an average o 25 44, and two hogsheads of Hart county to bacco, grown by Mr. J. P. Cox, sold respect ively at $32 and $38 per hundred pounds.

MORE TROUBLE ON THE CUMBERLAND .- The rebels have become troublesome again on the Cumberland river. We had an intimation b telegraph a day or two ago that a rebel force had gone in the direction of Harpeth Shoals to intercept steamers in the Federal service The steamer St. Cloud, which arrived at this port yesterday, was fired into at Betsytown on Tuesday, receiving no less than seventy shots. No one was hurt on board.

THEATRE.-In spite of rain and mud there was another great house for the Florence benefit last night, and this evening closes their engagement. Mr. F. appears as Shandy Maguire and Mr. Williams in the Returned Volunteer, and Mrs. Florence assumes the six characters in a Lesson for Husbands, with numerous songs and dances, aided by her husband as O'Leary. There will of course be a bumper at parting for these esteemed public favorites.

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED .- Two notorious counterfeiters, Samuel Gorman, alias Gerger, and James Lee, alias Wilson, charged with counterfeiting, were arrested last even ing by Officers Bligh and Gallagher. Gorman was arrested in this city nine years ago upon a feloneous charge, but escaped from prison. The accused will have an examination before Judge Johnston this morning.

We learn from the Henderson Reporter that William Taylor, eldst son of Liv. Taylor, deceased, was murdered on the road home on Wednesday evening by unknown persons. What motives prompted the murderers the Reporter did not learn. His body is terribly BROKE JAIL .- Fourteen soldiers, confined in the Nashville jail, escaped on Thursday night by sawing out a grate bar, with a saw furnished by the wife of one of the prisoners. A number of them were recaptured.

Rebel prisoners are brought into Nash ville daily. Several arrived there on Thurs day, among whom were Lieuts. J. F. Green and Jas. P. Little, of Patterson's Alabama Cavalry.

To the General Council:

GENTLEMEN: A resolution passed both branches of your honorable body requiring a writ of ad quod damnum to be issued for the condemnation of the bed of Beargrass creek, commencing at Second street and running use street, the width to be condemned to feet. I consider the resolution to be too in definite for so important an undertaking. The whole distance of the old bed of the creek fr whole distance of the old bed of the creek from Second street to the Out-off is near two miles. The wording of the resolution never could have contemplated the whole distance, there being a blank left for the defining of some street embracing one or more. The width might also be objectionable, unless intended to be dedicated to a special purpose. If intended simply to include the ground on which the sewer is built, or may hereafter be built, to save the city from any damage by reason of turning the bed of the creek and the erection turning the bed of the creek and the erection of the sewer, that difficulty has been over come by the assent of the property-holder binding on said creek, that they will hold the city harmless by reason of the improvement I will refer you to the agreement which is on file in the Clerk's office and also may be re-ferred to in the Journal of 8th of June, 1854. While, for reasons which I deem sufficient, I must decline to preside, I cannot withhold my approval of the meeting and its worthy objects. Whatever shall be, sincerely and in God's name, devised for the good of the soldiers and seamen in their hard spheres of duty, can scarcely fail to be blessed. And whatever shall tend to turn our thoughts from the unreasoning and uncharitable passions, prejudices, and jealousies incident to a great nagood "prospectors" remains to be seen. They have not been good colonists heretofore, and if they take to gold washing and silver mining kindly it will be an unlooked-for marvel.
On the west coast of Mexico the French will have the finest cotton-growing region in the world, save certain choice spots on the river bottoms of the South. The natives also make good laborers, and there will be no difficulty in raising large crops of the fluculent fiber. How to get it to market, however, will be the problem to solve. For this purpose, therefore, the cultivation cannot be made available until the railroads are built, and a grand ship canal constructed agrees the Lythmus. After the constructed across the Isthmus. After the Suez canal is finished it may enter into the Emperor's plans to engage in this enterprise, and it would not be an unworthy ambition for him to wish to go down to future ages as the monarch under whose auspices the union of the Atlantic and Pacific had been consum-tian Sabbath coinciding this year, and suggesting together the highest interests of this life and of that to come, is most propitious for the meeting proposed.
